

Our studios are reopening soon!

Some great news, our studios will be open again from the 6th July!

To ensure the welfare of colleagues, clients and participants who come to our studios, we will be implementing a number of safeguards following the latest expert advice, this includes:

- Anyone attending the studios will be screened upon arrival to ensure that they haven't experienced any symptoms associated with Coronavirus in the 2 weeks previous to attending and will also be requested to complete a basic health disclaimer form.
- Sanitisers will be available in all areas of the studios together with signage reminding everyone to maintain distances and regularly sanitise their hands.
- We will only be able to receive four respondents per group in order to distance everyone at least two metres apart at all times.
- Refreshments and consumables, such as food, drinks or items of stationery will be provided in an individualised format and will either be disposed of or sanitised, if needed to be reused.
- Face masks and Personal Protective Equipment will be available for people to wear if required, although we are happy for people will bring their own if preferred.
- With regards to clients, a maximum of two viewing, again to give enough distancing space. We also have remote viewing available as an option.
- It would also be advisable for all respondents to be paid by BACS rather than cash, so would recommend recruiters to use this option.
